Joy of Christmas Giving

Once a year this column provides space for a Christmas-giving project that has been a rewarding experience for San Diegans for more than a dozen years. It started when some San Diego newsmen were guests at a Mexican Christmas party at the Rosarita Hotel in 1960. The hotel, then, as now, was closed except for an occasional function.

50 or more young girls who had been playing on the warm sands of the beach now sat shivering in the cold dusk.

Finally, the explanation. These youngsters were from an orphanage in Mexicali. A Mexicali bus firm brought the orphans to Rosarita for a two-day beach holiday. They brought their own food and were to sleep on the floor of the lobby of the hotel after the gringos left. They were waiting for the party to end so they could come into the warmth, eat and bed down.

Reporters who later investigated their plight by visiting the orphanage, found it to be real but partially solvable. The first year newsmen had glass put in all of the paneless windows. The temperature drops to freezing in winter.

Later roofing, then electrical wiring and later sewing machines. After that there was a strong demand for yardage. Behind it all was the Spirit of Christmas — for the kids. That part of it is in the material following.

On Dec. 14, a truck will rumble eastward on Interstate 8 bearing a cargo that will make more hearts happy on Christmas Day than any department store Santa Claus.

In it will be hundreds of gayly wrapped gifts given freely by moms, dads, brothers and sisters from north of the border to a building filled with girls who otherwise would know no other Christmas.

This will mark the 14th time the truck has made the trip from a storage place in La Jolla to the border crossing at Calexico, then through the lines into Mexican and eastward along the fence to the House of the Good Shepherd orphanage for girls.

When it arrives at the grim structure its 150 inhabitants call home, a large steel gate will swing open and the voices of happy children singing Christmas carols in their native tongue will brighten the dusty neighborhood.

The driver of the truck, his wife and daughter will dismount and roll open the door to the back of the truck to expose the mutitude of gifts it carried from the ocean through the mountains to the desert.

Then the boxes will be carried to a stage inside the orphanage where they will be piled around a tree, where they will be ogled in great anticipation until after mass on Christmas Day.

Then one of the sisters who tutors the girls will call out the names on the boxes and they will be handed to the recipient who will take them back to her desk.

At this point law and order will end. The hall will be filled with laughter and squeals of joy as each of the girls opens her package and puts the goodies on display before her friends. Tissue paper and ribbons will be knee-deep on the floor.

No one will be overlooked. There will be plenty for all. Those who get more than others will share. Girls who receive clothing that does not fit will swap with others until they are satisfied.

In addition there will be fresh fruit and ice cream on the table at dinner. There will be turkey and dressing and plenty of milk.

For some of the girls, this will be the first time in their lives they have had the privilege of drinking milk, and for most it will be the first time they have had their fill at a table bearing the food and drink we of the United States take for granted.

For many of the girls it will be the first time in their lives that they will possess something of their very own that is new, that they can wear whatever and whenever they please.

All of this will take place because there still are a lot of good people running around on this earth who care about their fellow man and are willing to dig into their pockets to perpetuate the joy of giving that Christmas is all about.

The story of how it began has been told in this column on several occasions at this time of the year. Simply recounted, a group of San Diego County newsmen discovered the plight of the girls and decided to do something about it.

When they found that the girls of the House of the Good Shepherd would observe no Christmas in 1959, they asked the nuns to have the girls write a letter to Santa Claus, making known their most fervent desires. The reporters, editors, photographers, broadcasters and commentators then took the letters and distributed them to those who wished to help.

The requests were simple. A sweater. Stockings. Underwear.

All of the requests were answered and the gifts stored. A group of schoolteachers went to the storage center and loaded the truck and it was driven to Mexicali the next day.

This has been going on every Christmas since the idea caught on. Some of the early participants have died, some have moved away, some have come upon hard times and no longer are financially able to participate.

Each year a plea is made to find others who will take the place of those who have drifted away for one reason or another.

This column is that plea.

If there is anyone out there who wants to bring some sunshine into the otherwise dismal life of a parentless child all he has to do is pick up his phone and call Ken Reiley at 454-0411 in La Jolla and he will send you a letter. If you wish, you can write to him at Copley Newspapers, P.O. Box 1530, La Jolla, CA 92037.

You will get a letter by return mail because Ken has plenty of them left.

You can join the caravan and deliver the gift yourself or it will go over in the truck. If you don't have the time to shop, someone will do it for you. Just send a check payable to Operation Orphan and it will be used to buy gifts for a late arrival — or for one who otherwise wouldn't receive a gift.

This is a true charity. Not a cent is spent for salaries, publicity, gasoline, not even for the truck.

The publisher of this newspaper has been there and has seen where every cent goes.

What better way to observe Christmas than to bring happiness to a little girl you've never seen, who may never see you — but who will write you a letter thanking you from the bottom of her happy heart?

As we said earlier, that's what Christmas is all about.

L.G. Community Plan Rejected. Dec. OK Seen

That was the Lemon Grove Community Plan that just blew out the window.

And with it went the San Dieguito, Valley Center and Fallbrook plan.

The Plan was to have been tentatively approved by the County Board of Supervisors October 24 but the San Dieguito plan was successfully contested by lawyers who said the matter was not properly presented. The law requires that they all be legally considered at the same time.

The four community plans will now be heard by the Supervisors on December 13 and 14, Supervisor Dick Brown said this week.

Lemon Grove, Fallbrook and Valley Center are in good shape and "we can breeze through these" Brown said.

The San Dieguito hearing will require most of the two days set aside for the purpose, it is thought.

Brown said that the hearing must be held this year. After the legal hearing in December, if there are still matters to be resolved, the Board may approve the three plans that are in good order and postpone action on the fourth until next year.

Mt. Miguel Celebrates Homecoming

Mt. Miguel High School celebrates Homecoming with several special events this week.

Today's scheduled "Costume Day" and Friday's "Dress-Up Day" will considerably alter the normal attire of Mt. Miguel students.

An Alumni Tea honoring the class of '64 is slated for Friday afternoon in the school library.

Half-time features a parade illustrating this year's Homecoming theme, "Storybook Class", with several floats sponsored by various school organizations, and the crowning of the year's Homecoming Queen.

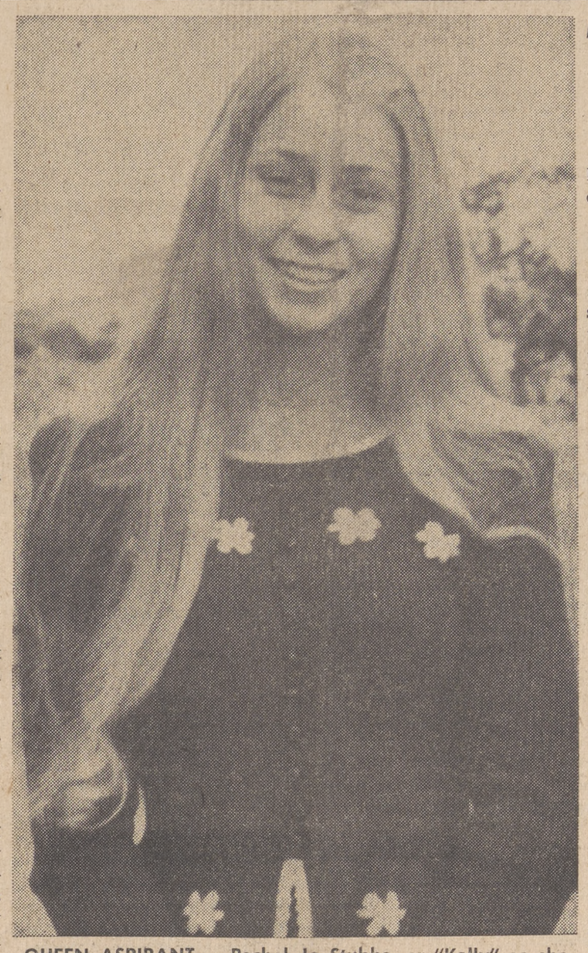
Study Scheduled for L.G. Flood Plan

A draft of the Los Chollas Creek Basin (Lemon Grove) general plan will be reviewed at a meeting of the Zone 3 Advisory Commission, Nov. 7.

The meeting will be held at the Helix Water District Office, 8111 University ave., in La Mesa, at 2 p.m.

The plan is for general flood control and drainage system. The environmental impact report for the plan will also be discussed at the meeting.

All interested persons are invited to attend.



QUEEN ASPIRANT — Rachel Jo Stubbs, or "Kelly" as she prefers, captured the title "Miss Teenage San Diego" at a recent pageant held at the Royal Inns Wharf. Kelly, a straight-A student from Mt. Miguel High School, will represent San Diego in the nationally televised Miss Teenage America Pageant in Little Rock, Arkansas, November 30. Her jazz dancing won over judges at the San Diego pageant. She practices gymnastics and ballet at the downtown Y.

Broken Arm Leads To Burglary Suspect

Daniel Eugene Pichler, a construction equipment operator who lives at 9377 Crest dr., Spring Valley, together with his wife, returned home about 9:15 Sunday.

The door was partly open giving Pichler to believe his wife had gotten to the house from the garage a little ahead of him.

But when he entered and saw a flash of a yellow jacket streaking across the room and his .22 calibre pistol on the living room floor, he suspected it to be burglars.

Quickly getting to the pistol (which was not loaded) he ordered Manuel Dwight Rhodes, 18, of 4173 Merritt blvd., La Mesa, to surrender. The person in the yellow jacket, who later turned out to be a 16-year old Spring Valley juvenile, made good his escape as Pichler attempted to conduct a search and keep Rhodes under control.

Rhodes is reported to have told Pichler, "We're only kids, let us go". While waiting for sheriff's deputies to arrive, Rhodes asked to be allowed to go to the toilet. He was given permission and jumped through a window but broke his arm in the jump.

Witness Reports

A witness reported seeing the incident and noting that the suspect couldn't climb a chain link fence around Pichler's home because of the injury, reported to police that he had been picked up by another person in an auto.

The police checked Grossmont hospital and found that an 18-year old man was treated for a broken arm at a time coinciding with the attempted burglary. He was identified as the person Pichler found in his home.

Felony burglary charges will be heard in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Lemon Grove, Spring Valley Omitted From Paramed District

Lemon Grove was not included in the proposed Heartland Emergency Paramedic District by the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) at its Monday meeting.

The announcement was made by Lemon Grove Fire Chief Fred Dixon, whose interest was that the Lemon Grove element would have been within the boundaries of the Fire District and some of the training would have fallen on the Department.

Also left out of the Paramedic District was Spring Valley. Spring Valley Fire Chief Frank Burger expressed disappointment that LAFCO had not included his district in the paramedic makeup.

"It would give our citizens better protection and we would have provided an economic benefit," he said.

"The Heartland fire elements have always been able to co-operate on other matters. We could have done it with the proposed paramedic district."

LAFCO commissioners voted 7-0 to approve a paramedic district including Santee, Lakeside and Bostonia, covering about 37 square miles of unincorporated area.

Only one paramedic team will cover the district, reduced from five that were planned for the area scheduled originally to cover the entire east county.

The cities of La Mesa and El Cajon asked to be omitted from the original district. Lemon Grove Fire District directors said that the district, if formed, should not be financed under Fire District taxing machinery.

Apparently Spring Valley was omitted because of the island created by those who were left out.

A County Service Area will be used to finance the new district. The estimated cost is about 8 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation.

A tax election is expected to be held in March in the area within the proposed district. Voters must approve the plan before it becomes effective.

Postcard Survey Underway

Brookside Ditch Future Eyed

The Brookside drainage problem may be nearing its conclusion.

Dick Brown, supervisor of the second district in which is the ditch about which Brookside residents complain, says he has developed a plan which he has transmitted to the residents by mail—together with a post card survey by which they may indicate their willingness to participate.

First, he rejected a previous plan with a $7 million tag on it. Then he had engineers produce an alternate design that could be instituted for $2 million.

Brown said that 30% to 45% of the funds could be developed from other levels of government. This would leave 55%-70% to be paid by residents of the drainage area over a 10-year period.

The project has to do with improvements that would create a faster flow of flood waters through the Brookside area. Brookside is that area between Sweetwater and Campo roads on the south side of Broadway.

A covered flood control channel would be constructed the entire length of Fairview dr. A ditch exists there now, but it is uncovered and described by residents as hazardous and germ-laden. Youngsters play in the ditch water.

Included in Brown's letter is a post card by which residents could form an assessment district to pay their share of the improvement. There are four options. Three are for a 10-year obligation of $100, $200 and $300 a year. Presumably, the more it costs, the smaller the district would become.

In addition to the three choices listed on the card, there is one that indicates the resident is not interested in the project.

The post card survey deadline is December 1.

Brown, in a letter to Congressman Bob Wilson, has asked for aid from the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Teen Dance Draws Full House at VFW

The monthly Teen-age dance at V.F.W. Hall drew a capacity crowd, according to Joe Nelson, co-ordinator of the affair.

In spite of the capacity turnout, everything went so smoothly that the chaperones and adult administrators were looking forward to the one to be held November 29. Medusa Music and Sound will provide the dance music this month.

Nelson reminded that none may participate without getting a ticket prior to the dance. These may be obtained at the V.F.W. or by calling Nelson or Mrs. Neumeister at 460-9698.

At the October dance the youngsters had a bake sale to help support the dance which is free of any charge to those teen-agers admitted.

A pink cake in the shape of an elephant won the cake bake prize and sale of the bakery goods produced $25 for the dance fund.

Free food and soft drinks are supplied to all dancers and the bake sale proceeds went into that fund.

Nelson also said that the Lemon Grove Woman's Club had contributed $100 to the operational fund which includes the cost of the band.

Slain Man's Partner Arrested

Sheriff's Deputies late Tuesday arrested a man closely connected with Robert G. Murray, the man slain by a deputy sheriff October 30, in Lemon Grove. (see below)

The man, identified as Maxey Coleman Romaine, 34, of La Mesa had been arrested Monday on charges of pandering and pimping as part of the same investigation being conducted against Murray, but had been released on $3,000 bail the same day.

Tuesday, armed with a search warrant, deputies searched Romaine's residence and found numerous items taken in burglaries in San Diego and San Francisco.

Some of the items recovered were taken in the same burglary as items found in Murray's car the night he was shot.

After finding the stolen items, Romaine was arrested on charges of receiving stolen property and possession of a billy club and released on $2,000 bail.

Rainfall Total Nears 2 Inches

The season's rainfall total is nearing two inches, according to the local meteorologist at the Fire Station.

October 30 the rain totaled .04 inches. There was none the next day.

On November 1 and 2 there were .10 inch each day bringing total for the three rain days to .24 inch.

The season to date has produced 1.94 inches as compared with .01 at the same time last year.

Sheriff's Men Solve October School Robbery

The 'Big School-Funds Heist', back on October 8, has been solved by Sheriff's Deputies.

The culprits, as one might suspect, were two schoolboys —15 and 17.

They claim they were led into the caper by a couple of black youths from San Diego.

Under the guidance of the strangers, they said, they hid in the decorative bushes near Lemon Grove Junior High school until the driver went into the building.

Then they plucked bags of money from the truck and fled.

$107 was in cash; $233 was in checks.

They dumped the unusable part of the loot in various trash cans from Lemon Grove to College Grove.

Sheriffs Deputies, operating on the slimmest clues, got a confession from the lads when they were stopped and questioned.

The juveniles were released to their parents until they appear at Juvenile Court.

Congressmen Re-Elected

Congressmen Lionel Van Deerlin and Bob Wilson were re-elected in Tuesday's election.

Assemblyman Pete Chacon, Bill Craven, Wadie Deddeh and Bob Wilson were also re-elected.

Jim Bates unseated Supervisor Jim Bear.

Services Held for Suspect Shot In Police Investigation

Funeral services were held Monday for Robert Gene Murray, 39, of 7435 North ave., Lemon Grove, who was shot Wednesday night at 10:30 p.m. when he reportedly failed to heed a deputy sheriff's order to stop. He was dead on arrival at Grossmont hospital at 11:10.

His death followed an incident in which the Patrol Bureau, of the Lemon Grove Sheriff's office had been requested to assist in a felony suspect stop and the subsequent arrest of Murray.

Police reported that Murray was a suspect in a gun theft and possible other weapons. Here is the official report from the sheriff's office describing the attempted apprehension:

"Deputy Michael Dunlap, employed by the Sheriff's Office since 1969 and Deputy Charge Gouge, his partner, were assigned to make a stop of Murray at a time and place that would cause the least amount of danger to themselves and to the populace.

"The officers were briefed on possibilities they might encounter during the stop.

"It had been decided to make the felony stop away from Murray's residence to avert possibility of a neighborhood shoot-out. The subject was believed to have access to automatic weapons, grenades and machine guns.

Grenades Suspected

Murray was reported to be carrying a stolen .357 magnum pistol at all times and of having grenades and other automatic weapons available.

"Based on statements made by Murray, briefing officers felt that he would make a fight of it due to his past criminal record.

"The subject was reported to have said that he committed a homicide in the past week.

"In view of information developed, Murray was considered by all officers involved to be extremely dangerous if involved in a felony stop.

"Officers Dunlap and Gouge chose the site where the stop took place due to the remoteness and because it would isolate the subject and limit the danger to others if a shoot-out occurred.

"At approximately 10:35 p.m., the Deputies made the felony stop on Murray, who was driving a 1966 Plymouth sedan, in the 8100 block of Broadway, Lemon Grove.

"The suspect was ordered to raise his hands, at which time the vehicle started forward.

"The Deputy ordered the suspect to stop and the subject was seen to drop his right hand from the raised position.

"The Deputy shouted again for the suspect to stop and

S.V. Fire Hydrant Tax Planned

The Spring Valley Fire District has a problem.

The problem may be solved by — of all things — a fire hydrant tax.

The problem stems from a $3-a-month fire hydrant fee the superior court ordered the Fire District to pay to the Otay Municipal Water District — that district that supplies water to some of the fire district's hydrants.

The fire district also has to pay the water district $62,000 in back fees that the superior court also ordered paid.

The Fire District maintained that the residents protected by the hydrants should pay.

Involved are 373 hydrants located in the Otay Water District's boundaries. The rest of Spring Valley's hydrants are in the Helix Water District. That District makes no hydrant fee.

Fire Chief Frank Berger said a special fire hydrant district would be needed to cover the cost of the monthly fee. A public hearing will be called to establish such a district by next July so that the tax levy will appear on the November, 1975 tax bills, he said.

Berger said that the Otay District will pay the Fire district for maintaining the hydrants. The water district will also pay for fire protection, he added.

The Skyline Wesleyan Church . . . Formula For Successful Growth

It was on an 8-acre hillside on Skyline dr. at the south edge of Lemon Grove.

Already, plans had been announced for building a thousand homes on the adjacent fields to the south. The tract would be called Lomita Village. That was 20 years ago.

The 8-acre tract was the centering point for youngsters from east San Diego. Youngsters who had no parks and few recreational facilities available to them.

Two men stood on the windswept hill. Finally, they kneeled and they prayed.

From that day forward things fell into place. The field would become the site of the Skyline Wesleyan church at 1345 Skyline dr. — a church complex valued now at two and a half million dollars. And the church would attract more yaung people than any other in San Diego county.

The men who bared their heads to pray on that day just 20 years ago were the Rev. Orval C. Butcher, the founding pastor of the church, and the Rev. E. V. Perkins, then pastor of El Cajon Wesleyan church. They prayed for the Lord to get them some land. Prayer was needed because there had been no Wesleyan members in the area asking for a new church.

From Wisconsin

Butcher was a visitor from Wisconsin. He was traveling with Youth For Christ International, a gospel singing group of youngsters.

The Rev. Perkins had driven the Rev. Butcher to the Skyline site and Butcher liked what he saw. The property was owned by two old maids — Catholics. They wanted $12,500 for the 8 acres. After Butcher scrounged it up the women contributed $1,200 toward the starting of the church.

It was needed because the church started from scratch. 175 people attended the first service. But 460 came to a Sunday School Rally Day 11 months later.

In the meantime church construction was under way. And that is the way it was to be for the next 10 years — with volunteer labor. The pastor dug trenches, put in sewers, poured concrete and helped with the carpentry — and served as pastor.

Youngster Problem

The youngsters who had created a problem before the church came, continued to converge on the area. It disturbed some of the church constituency so much that the church advisory board threatened to leave the church if encouragement to the youngsters continued.

"But courage inspiried by the Divine Call held me steady," Rev. Butcher said. "I told them 'if you have to leave that's up to you but I can't let these kids who have never heard the Gospel before say they were shut out of our church.'"

"I stood my ground. Juvenile delinquency had nearly wrecked us. Now it became a foundation upon which we grek. That year 200 young people were converted to Church at our young church," he said.

Soon, it was no longer necessary for the police to cruise the area to keep order.

Drinking and Fighting

Diminishing were the number of liquor drinking incidents; gang fights, broken windows and stolen vehicles. But at no time was Rev. Butcher fearful. He mingled with the youngsters, even when they were fighting. Butcher stands 5'-3" but the love he had for the kids showed through. He was never harmed.

Today, the church probably has the biggest youth program in the county with professional leaders at junior high, high school and college levels. And 700 youngsters on Sunday is not an unusual attendance. The Sunday School aotal often reaches 1,500.

For the first 18 months of its founding, the church operated on borrowed money. Today its budget is over $600,000 a year.

Today there are 7 ministers on the church staff. There are also two men in the musical field. Otis Skillings, an internationally known gospel music composer is one of these. His compositions have been translated into 9 different langauges. He has scored, arranged or written more than 500 pieces.

The church also has missionaries in New Guinea, Peru and Africa and has supplied numerous pastors throughout the nation.

100 Hours A Week

Butcher, 56, an outgoing, determined and optimistic man, still puts in 90 hours a week. He personally calls on every new member's home in spite of his sizeable staff.

The church has taken in 120 new members since June; 62 of them last week. He has baptized more than 175 persons since entering the new sanctuary in February. The Rodgers custom organ, installed recently, is the largest in Southern California.

As a ministes he has kept the same confidence and faith in Bible preaching through the years and the church is one of the strongest evangelical voices in San Diego.

At the end of 20 years he has the same zest for his work and for fulfilling his visions as he did when the work began.

"Creativity and innovation with follow-through is the recipe for surcess," he believes.

"I am not afraid of progressive ideas as long as they are supported by scripture," he said.

Thrilling Voice

His voice thrills his congregation. He describes it as "dramatic tenor". He sings to his congregation every Sunday before his message. He performs at the Civic theatre in San Diego 6-8 annually and always receives a standing ovation.

Jimmy Johnson

His associate, the Rev. Jimmy Johnson, likewise has earned an enviable reputation in the county because of his remarkable work with youth. He specializes in counseling and he, like Butcher, is a good vocalist and the youngsters like his modern approach. His preaching is the dynamic Southern style and it packs the church every Sunday night.

Rev. Johnson is in heavy demand as a speaker. PTAs, service clubs, schools, and civic groups provide him with a busy schedule. His knowledge of youth subjects and their problems contribute to his popularity.

His relaxed contemporary style coupled with Rev. Butcher's optimism, sincerity and follow-through has provided the chemistry that has made the Skyline Wesleyan church one of the outstanding ones in San Diego County.

St. Philip's 'Holiday Fair' To Feature Gifts and Food

It's called the Holiday Fair.

It'll be held at St. Philip's Episcopal church Friday and Saturday, November 15-16.

Co-featured with Christmas gift type items, baked goods and candies, will be lunches and dinners on both of the days.

A spaghetti feast is scheduled for Friday 4-7 p.m. and turkey dinner will be the feature on Saturday.

At noon each day, luncheon will be served. A sandwich bar will be open Friday and hot dogs will be the specialty on Saturday.

Friday dinner is $2.50 and $1.50; Saturday, $2.75 and $1.75.

The Fair itself will be open from 10 a.m.-7 p.m. both days. On display and for sale will be holiday decorations and gifts not found in stores.

A White Elephant booth will provide bargainst for early birds.

A sewing department, a baked goods and candy booth, a plant section featuring terrariums and a book shelf with Christmas cards are among the attractions.

St. Philip's is at Palm and Hardy streets in Lemon Grove. The public is invited.

'Holiday Bazaar' Helps Pay for Restoration

The oldest Protestant church in San Diego was dedicated St. Phillip's Episcopal in September, 1971 after having been moved and restored from San Diego State to the corner of Palm and Hardy sts. in Lemon Grove.

Tragedy struck only seven months later when the sanctuary burned to the ground. Restoration resumed and the church was re-dedicated last Easter.

To raise funding for the $200,000 repair bill, St. Philip's congregation is hosting the annual Holiday Fair on the 15th and 16th of this month at the church.

The two-day event includes luncheons, spaghetti and turkey dinners, booths offering books, plants, Christmas needs and white elephant items.

Lung Association Warns About Chronic Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis is an often neglected ailment, warns the county Lung Association. Because it's common, most people underestimate the disease. When a sufferer finally seeks medical help, the disease usually has progressed to an irreversible stage.

"By then, the lung airways are seriously obstructed and the patient is a prime candidate for pulmonary infections, and probably has developed some degree of emphysema and cardiac disease", says Dr. Haynes Sheppard, President of the Lung Association of San Diego and Imperial Counties.

Making people aware of the symptoms, and seriousness, of chronic bronchitis, is a year-round job for the Christmas Seal Association, Dr. Sheppard said. When it is diagnosed early, bronchitis usually can be successfully treated. Ignored, it progresses to the dangerous and disabling chronic disease that claims more than 5,000 Americans each year.

A lingering cough, or one that returns from time to time, is a major symptom of chronic bronchitis. So is shortness of breath.

Prompt attention to symptoms is one way of reducing the number of Americans who suffer from chronic bronchitis, now totaling 6.5 million. There are nearly 50,000 chronic bronchitis victims in San Diego alone.

"The best way to prevent bronchitis is to give up smoking," Dr. Sheppard said. "There's no question that cigarettes, pipes and cigars are a major cause of this lung crippler".

HOME-COOKED

This Week's RECIPE

Chicken-In-The-Straw Harvest Time Treat

Hoedown . . . square dance . . . barn dance! Call it what you will, it's American folk art at its liveliest and most spontaneous. At harvest time, neighbors traditionally gathered to help reap each others' crops. When they put down their hoes, they took up their fiddles — and "do-si-do" echoed from the barn rafters. A real community social, and lots of fun for all!

Easy hospitality is still an American tradition, and today more than ever, the focus is on satisfying, fast-fixing food like Chicken-In-The-Straw. This tasty combination of cubed cooked chicken, Italian green beans, and canned tomatoes is cooked with can-convenient beef gravy and served over layers of corn bread. Onion salt and basil add extra zest. Since the beef gravy is made with natural beef juices, it imparts a rich, homestyle flavor — and "there's nary a worry of lumps 'n' such.' Serve Chicken-In-The-Straw for real old-time godness.

CHICKEN-IN-THE-STRAW

- 2 cans (10½ ounces each) beef gravy
- 2 cups cubed cooked chicken
- 1 package (9 ounces) frozen Italian green beans, cooked and drained
- ½ cup drained chopped canned tomatoes
- ½ teaspoon onion salt
- ¼ teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
- Corn bread

In saucepan, combine all ingredients except corn bread. Heat; stir occasionally. Serve over corn bread. Makes about 4 cups.

'Singles Workshop' at UCSD

Approximately one third of the adult population is unmarried.

Singles — whether divorced, widowed, never married, young, middle-aged or old — "often feel like second-class citizens, but they also have advantages," contends Marie Edwards, noted psychologist and author.

"The Challenge of Being Single" is the title of her new book and a workshop she will lead at UCSD this weekend.

The workshop centers on ways that one can achieve a fulfilling and rewarding life as a single.

Participants in the workshop will be urged to work on problems and exchange ideas and feelings.

To encourage an equal number of men and women, a $5 "scholarship discount" off the regular registration fee of $36 is given to the first 30 men who enroll.

Workshop is sponsored by the UCSD Extension, 452-3400.

Noise Control Meet is Friday

A public hearing on the County's noise element of the general plan has been rescheduled for Friday. It was deferred from November 1.

The hearing will be before the County Planning Commission at 2 p.m. in Room 358 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway.

The new plan is aimed at reducing the harmful and annoying effects of noise.

A 10-member citizens committee in conjunction with the County Planning Dept. staff prepared the proposal.

The group's purpose is to reduce the effects of noise in the County by adopting policies which will improve planning, building and development practices.

State law requires all cities and counties to prepare and adopt a plan to reduce noise.

The Friday hearing before the County Planning Commission is the first step in the adoption process.

Teachers' Pay Reported Up 7.5%

The median salary of California school teachers rose to $12,903 last year—7.5 percent more than the 1972-73 school year.

A newly released report by the State Department of Education on salaries of public elementary and secondary school teachers and principals also disclosed that the median salary was $23,298 for high school principals and $21,121 for elementary school principals, a 7 percent increase in each instance over the previous year.

The report, covering salaries during the 1973-74 school year, said one quarter of the teachers earned more than $15,000. The lowest paid quarter, by contrast, received less than $10,800, Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, pointed out.

County Discrepancies

Wide differences in pay between counties were observed, Riles said. He noted that teachers in Marin County received the highest pay in the state with a median salary of $14,987. The lowest median salary was $9,925 in Modoc County.

Among the state's 187,841 full-time teachers, 231 earned less than $7,200 while 26,730 received $16,200 or more.

Sex or Grade Level Bias?

The department's report does not directly compare salaries of male and female teachers. However, the predominantly female teaching staffs of elementary schools, as in past years, received lower salaries than the mostly male high school faculties, Riles said.

The median high school teacher's salary last year was $13,755, while that of the elementary teacher was $12,421. Women made up 75 percent of the 113,733 elementary teachers in the state, but only 38 percent of the 74,108 high school teachers.

Statistics showing the number of teachers and various types of administrators by sex were reported for the first time this year, Riles said.

Eleven years ago, the median teacher salary in the state was $6,850, rising to $7,124 in the next school year, 1963-64. Ten years later that figure had increased to $12,903.

Students' Future Eyed By Monte Vista PTSA

A general meeting of the Monte Vista Parent Teacher Student Association is held tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the high school in room 1003.

Meeting features "What's In My Students' Future," a program geared to both parents and students, and open to the public. Seven topics ranging from work permits and part-time jobs to military recruiting are covered in separate sessions starting at 8:15 and 9 p.m.

Monte Vista High School is located at 3230 Sweetwater Springs blvd., Spring Valley.

Helix Band Outclasses' Competitors

For the third week in a row the Helix Band has taken first place in a weekend band competition. This past weekend the Helix band captured the honor at the Santa Monica "El Primero" Band Review.

Under almost perfect marching weather the Helix Highlander Band simply outclassed the rest of the bands. The first place band was followed through the competition area by the Helix Drill team. Honors also were captured by the marching girls as they came away with a fourth place.

This was not to be the end of the Helix honors as ace drum major Greg Lusitana also placed in the drum major competition. Not to end the Helix awards the attached units of the marching band also placed in their section of the parade competition.

This Saturday the Helix Marching Band will again travel to the L. A. area to compete in the Hawthorne Band Review. After their return the Helix Band will join the other Grossmont High School District Bands in the annual band jamboree that takes place in Aztec Bowl.

Grossmont Free Ed.– Wide Range of Topics

A variety of new programs are offered by Grossmont College's Continuing Education Office throughout November. All programs are open to the public and there are no educational prerequisites or fees.

Courses scheduled to run Thursdays through December 19 beginning today are "Bonsai for Beginners," about tree dwarfing and training, and "Ecological Living in San Diego."

Beginning next Tuesday are "World Events," "Ancient Sea Battles," and "Marketing Your Crafts."

Other programs in November include "Having Fun with Theatre," "Your Family Tree, a Geneology Research," "Weight Control for Women," "Wonders of Europe," "The Fine Arts of Greek Cooking," and "Facing Death and Living Life."

Details about these and other programs can be obtained by calling the Grossmont College Office of Continuing Education, 465-1700, Ext. 321.

Grant Gives Nod to 3 Public TV Series

A $104,000 grant to seven California Public Broadcasting System television stations was made by Bank of America to bring three series to their audiences —a symphony program, a cooking show, and a festival of animated films.

The first of the three series already under way, is "Evening at Symphony." 12 one-hour concerts by the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The second is "The Romagnoli's Table," 12 programs in which Franco and Margaret Romagnoli show the audience how to prepare authentic Italian recipes using foods available in American markets. The series starts early next year.

The third selection is "International Animation Festival," 13 programs of films from around the world which use humor and cartooning techniques to communicate rather than words. The series includes award-winning short films from countries such as Japan, Canada, the United States, Yugoslavia, France, Czechoslovakia, England and Poland. The series starts next spring.

KPBS will carry these programs in this area.

No Shortages Forecast For 'Turkey Day' Meal

Shoppers will have no trouble locating a suitable main course for the Thanksgiving meal, according to USDA marketing specialists. Cold-storage holdings of turkey are expected to be at record levels this month. The holdings are about one-third greater than they were a year ago, despite a decline in new-crop marketings.

USDA also reports that most other foods will be in good supply this month. A monthly newsletter itemizes commodities of red meat, poultry, eggs, dairy products, and seasonal fruits and vegetables as being in adequate or plentiful supply.

Six Dance Performances By USIU Ballet Company

USIU's Ballet International presents six performances of dance featuring company choreographers, November 22-25 at the San Diego City College Theatre. Curtain time is 8 p.m. with a matinee Saturday, November 23 at 2:30.

Featured in the program will be "Tarantella," "Debuit," and the premiere of "Connotations" with music by Aaron Copland, all choreographed by Wayne Davis; "Voices" by Jean Isaacs; "Transitions,'" a work by Marcia Quigley; and "Dances to Klee' choreographed by Betzi Roe.

Tickets are available by calling 271-4300, ext. 209, or at the door. The theatre is located at 14th and C st.

Mother Goose is Coming

Elaborate animated floats portraying a variety of Mother Goose nursery rhymes make up a 90-minute spectacular as the second largest parade west of the Mississippi River welcomes the Christmas season to El Cajon, November 24, 2 p.m.

This year's grand marshal, six-year-old Rodney Allen Rippy, is the youngest in the parade's 28-year history. Star of the television series "Harlem Globetrotters Popcorn Machine," he is also the first child to head UNICEF's international campaign.

Covering a three-mile parade route, the procession will include 150 high school, Marine, and Navy band and drill team units, 25 floats, more than 100 clowns (an amount vying for the Guiness Book of Records), and specialty attractions including marching dogs, "Smokey the Bear" in a California Forestry truck, a bevy of belly dancers, several gaggles of geese, and the Al Bahr Temple precision antique cars.

The Mother Goose float, entered by the sponsoring nonprofit parade association, will be the first float in the parade and will be graced by the 1974 parade princess—chosen from a local high school. Eleven other finalists in the princess competition will ride a following float.

The parade is traditionally held the Sunday afternoon before Thanksgiving.

Limited bleacher seating is available at $1.50. The parade will be televised.

Eager Eaters

Nearly 25 million lunches are served in schools each day, for a total of 4.7 billion a year.

BIG BAND — Harry James and his 17-piece orchestra, winds up a two-night performance Thursday, Nov. 7, at Vacation Village on Mission Bay.

James made many band-girlie movies with MGM and 20th Century Fox. He spends several months a year in Las Vegas, which is home for the band leader-trumpeter.

On his program each of the night are such favorites as "Kiss Me Once", "Ciribiribin" and "Take the 'A' Train."

Tickets are available at Vacation Village's Grande Ballroom. Admission as $7.50 a person.

Grossmont Players to Perform 'Dracula'

The Grossmont College Griffin Players with James W. Baker directing, opens Hamilton Deane's and J. L. Balderston's dramatization of "Dracuia" at 8 p.m., November 14, 15, 16, 21, 22 and 23.

Written by Bram Stoker in 1897, the fictional Dracula shares little resemblance to the bloodthirsty monster that Bela Lugosi made famous in films.

The play will be entered in the American College Theatre Festival presented by the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the Alliance for Arts Education and The Smithsonian Institution. The American College Theatre Festival is produced annually by the American Theatre Association.

The public is invited to see this dramatization of Bram Stoker's famous novel. The price of admission of $1.50. Reservations are required and may be obtained by calling 465-1700.

Grossmont Win Streak Extends To 12 Games

Grossmont College quarterback Joe Roth passed for two touchdowns and the Griffin defense turned back all but one of San Bernardino's scoring efforts as the Green and Gold triumphed, 35-6 in a Mission Conference game Saturday.

Roth's scoring strikes were gathered in by Dave Oliver and Bill Helms and covered 6 and 31 yards, respectively. Other Grossmont touchdowns came on a four yard run by Larry Downs, a 24 yard runback of an interception by Jim Arollado and a 14 yard pass from backup quarterback Mike Rundle to Bruce Brouillard.

The Griffs are now 4-0-2 in conference play and will put their 12 game unbeaten streak on the line Saturday at 1:30 against Arizona Western at Aztec Bowl. B.T.

No-Foul Rule

The revolutionary American Basketball Association no-foul out rule, adopted a year ago by the ABA trustees is being used again.

Under the rule, no player can foul out of a game, regardless of how many fouls he accumulates. However, for the seventh and succeeding fouls against a player, the opposing team gets the proper number of free throws and possession of the ball.

A free throw is awarded in such a penalty situation on rebounding and loose ball fouls and regardless of whether the fouling team has committed the limit of team fouls in a quarter.

Matadors Blank El Cap

In a do-or-die game Friday night, Mt. Miguel kept its playoff hopes alive by blanking El Cap 17-0.

Victors had 248 total yards offense, 199 running. Greg Dixon led rushers with 99 yards in twelve carries followed by Ed Moore with nine runs totaling 64 yards. Steve Slater rounded out the offensive effort with 51 yards through the air.

The Matadors scored the game's first touchdown in the second quarter on a Slater to Dan Fleming aerial that sneaked through El Cap's secondary for six points. The Vaqueros weren't the only ones who didn't see the pass though. Half of the people in the stands had just taken cover from a heavy downpour of rain. The precipitation did nothing to help traction on the field, as El Cap mustered only 180 yards in offense for the game.

The second score was tallied in the fourth quarter on a 36 yard field goal by John Hulsey, making the score 10-0. Hulsey also had two interceptions from his safety position on defense. Mt. Miguel scored one more touchdown in the last quarter on an electrifying run by half back Moore, covering 35 yards.

The Matadors are now in fourth place with a 2-2-1 record, and El Cap drops to 1-3-1. the top two teams in the league at the end of the season will go to the CIF playoffs. If the Mats win their two remaining games, they may be one of the two.

The first half of the test is tomorrow as Mt. Miguel faces last-place Santana in the Matadors Homecoming game.

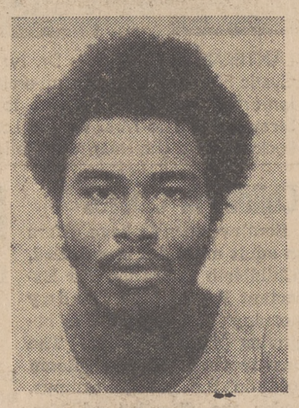
Conquistador's Travis Grant Draws ABA Official's Praise

NEW YORK—The San Diego Conquistadors gave Travis Grant a chance last year when no one else in the pros wanted college basketball's all - time leading scorer, reported Jim Bukata, director of Public Relations for the American Basketball Association.



Travis Grant

"I'm going to prove that a whole lot of people made a mistake about me," says Grant, who started out the ABA's 1974-75 season with back-to-back games of 44 (vs. New York) and 41 (vs. Memphis). "I'm tired of being called a gunner and a player who concentrates at only one end of the floor."

Grant scored 4,045 during a four-year college career at Kentucky State, during which time his team was three-time NAIA champions. He had one phenomenal game after another, scoring 75 once, and hitting 18 consecutive field goal attempts another time.

During the 1972 NAIA championships, "The Machine" tallied 60 points in an opening round game, prompting the scouts and coaches in attendance to call him "the greatest pure shooting big man" they had ever seen.

Armed with great credentials, Grant was taken in the first round by the Los Angeles Lakers. After being a star in college, the 6-8 forward quickly learned how to be a bench sitter in the pros.

The Lakers had Jim McMillan, Bill Bridges and Happy Hairston as veteran forwards, so Grant's playing time was very limited. He saw action in only 33 games, averaging less than five minutes playing time per appearance.

Discouraged, Crushed

"It was very discouraging because I knew that I could score if I was given playing time," says Travis. "Then, last year, when I was waived and no one bothered to pick me up, I was crushed."

One person who remembered Grant was the then San Diego coach Wilt Chamberlain. Both were teammates with the Lakers and Chamberlain knew what "The Machine" could do if given a chance.

Grant joined the Q's and eventually worked his way into the starting lineup. He was just reaching the peak of his game in the final month of the season when an ankle injury sent him to the sideline.

In 56 games, he averaged 15.3 points a game, better than 5 rebounds and hit .526 of his field goal attempts.

Overcomes Injury

"Because of my injury, you could say I was a little apprehensive about coming back and playing at top form," Grant admits. "I worked hard all summer, running, exercising and trying to get my weight down. It all paid off, too."

Against New York, he hit 17 of 23 shots from the floor to go with 10 of 11 free throws. Against Memphis he hit 15 of 21 field goals and 11-11 free throws.

"Travis was the hardest working player in our preseason training camp," says Q's coach Alex Groza. "And, in the big scoring games, he was incredible. Very few of his shots were near the hoop. He was hitting the 20-footer and the ball was finding nothing but the bottom of the net.

At Kentucky State, the chant was: "Do it Mean, Mean Machine!" That may soon be the rallying cry in San Diego.

The Qs play Utah, Denver and Memphis away on November 9, 10 and 12 respectively. They return home to play Denver November 13.

Mesa College Hosts Orange Coast Friday

The Mesa College Olympians remained in contention for the South Coast Conference crown with a 27-7 submerging of Santa Ana's Dons Friday night in Mesa's Homecoming.

Mesa built a 19-0 halftime advantage and rode the passing arm of quarterback Jim Valenzuela and a stiff defense enroute to its important victory.

Coupled with defending champion Fullerton's loss to Orange Coast over the weekend, Mesa's win throws its helmet back into the ring.

"Orange Coast has to be red hot now," said Mesa boss Tom Carter, whose Olympians are now 1-1 in league, 4-3 overall. "Our motto now is 'De - fuse the Coasters'."

Youth Soccer Results

The Orients, a Lemon Grove soccer team of the Suburban Youth Soccer League, has taken the lead in the 15-16 year old division with a 4-0 record.

Five teams make up the division.

In the 12-14-year old division, the Royals have a 4-0 record, leading 6 other teams.

The North Stars of the 10-14 year division hold a 5-0 record in the 12-team division.

The Pintos, with a 6-0 record lead the 8-9 year division, topping 7 other teams.

State Water Polo Team Plays La Jolla

San Diego State's water polo team will travel to La Jolla Friday for a 4 p.m. game against UC San Diego. San Diego beat the Tritons earlier this year, 14-4.

The Aztecs record dropped to 10-10 on the season last weekend with two losses. Friday, San Diego lost to Cal Poly (Pomona) 12-11, in the Bronco's pool. Saturday the Aztecs dropped a 10-14 decision to UC Irvine, after a 2-2 halftime score, as seven San Diego players fouled out of the game.

Russ Hafferkamp, leading scorer in the PCAA, continues to lead the team offense, with five goals on the weekend to run his total to 45 for the year. Tim Bresnahan, second in league scoring last week, has 33 goals, while Paul Parker stayed at 23 goals.

Monte Vista Over Santana 7-0

The Monte Vista Monarchs edged Santana 7-0 last week to move into third place in Grossmont League standings.

The Monarchs (3-2) were paced by scrambling quarterback Steve Perdue who ran for 117 yards, and Tom Wright, with another 101 on the ground. Perdue was also 2-5 in passing.

Dave Stockton To Get Award as Pro-of-the-Year

PGA Tournament Pro Dave Stockton, of Westlake Village, Calif. will receive the Comedians' Golf Classic annual Pro-of-the-Year award on Saturday, Nov. 16 at its Awards banquet at La Costa C.C. at the conclusion of its 133th annual fun-fest.

Stockton will be playing the Tournament of Champions course, which has become a familiar track to him, when he joins the chairman, Mulligan Awardee and Humanitarian Award winner, a traditional pairing for the Comedians.

Stockton was the victor of three tour events this year, starting with the L.A. Open, the Quad Cities Open and the Sammy Davis Hartford Open which brought his year's earnings up to $150,000, fourth to Johnny Miller, king of the '74 circuit with more than $256,000.

After winning the Hartford Open, Stockton donated $5,000 of $40,000 first place money to the sponsoring Jaycees and, in addition, pledged $1,000 a year for the next 35 years, "because Hartford has been good to me." Stockton will receive the renown Clown trophy from the Comics. He will also have a scholarship named after him — the San Diego Golf Academy—the nation's first golf academy. Dave has the privelege of selecting the candidate of his choosing.

Friends of Handicapped Children's Care Village for multihandicapped youngsters benefit from the proceeds of the event which is November 14-16. Admission will be by donation.

'Mystery Man' Cashes His $100,000 Ticket

AGUA CALIENTE — The mystery of Caliente's uncashed 5-10 ticket was solved Sunday when Arsenio Faz of San Diego showed up at the track to collect the $105,358 he had earned by selecting five winners Oct. 20 on a $24 multiple ticket.

Paz, a 50-year-old electronic technician for the Navy at North Island in Coronado, said he had placed his ticket through the track and then left for San Francisco on a vacation. A friend called him the next day to inform him of his good fortune and Paz then decided to continue his vacation before making the trip to Mexico to collect his winnings.

A bachelor, Paz served 20 years in the Navy, mainly as a barber. He said he has no immediate plans on how he will spend his newly-found wealth. "First of all, I'll have to see how much the government allows me to keep and then I'll start thinking about what to do with the remaining money," the happy Paz stated.

Paz earned $104,412 for his major share of the 5-10 contest and the additional money came from four consolation shares on his multiple ticket.

Renato Garcia At Coliseum Friday to Avenge Defeat

In his brief but impressive pro career, colorful Chilian middleweight Renato Garcia has lost only two of 31 total fights.

Friday night at the Coliseum, Garcia, 10th ranked in his division, will try to avenge one of those blemishes when he takes on hard punching Felton Marshall in the scheduled 10 round main event.

First Defeat

After notching 26 consecutive victories, Renato's first and only other taste of defeat came courtesy of former welter and middleweight champion Emile Griffith, and that ended in a disputed, split verdict.

But the Marshall bout, which took place about a month later at the Olympic Auditorium in Los Angeles, was a complete nightmare for Garcia. In losing a one-sided, unanimous decision, the South American bled continuously from a deep cut and was sent to the canvas for the first time ever.

"I can't explain what happened to me that night," Garcia admits. "The Griffith fight could have gone either way, but against Marshall, I have no excuses. I'll just have to do better this time."

Since his failure with Felton, Renato has scored three straight San Diego wins over Jose Martin Flores, Jimmy Caffey and Chu Cho Garcia, bringing his local string to 14 in a row.

Marshall, 24, sports an excellent mark of 26-4-1 with 17 knockouts. He is the brother of heavyweight prospect Mel Marshall.

young scrapper from Mexico, Al Medrano. Medrano was making his first gringo-land appearance.

Hafey had the Mexican teenager in trouble in the third, sixth and seventh rounds. Referee Eddie Fiero stopped the fight at 2:14 of the eighth. But Medrano had given a good account of himself with stinging rights and lefts to Hafey's head.

Hafey, who is champing at the bit to get into a championship ring with featherweight titlist Reuben Olivares, won Friday's fight impressively to

Last Week

Irish Art Hafey, the Mini Bull of the Pacific Beach Pampas, moved a step closer to a featherweight title fight Friday night by knocking out the fast-rising (until Friday) rack up a record of 32-3-1 with 26 KO's.

Medrano is no tank fighter. His record is 27-1-3 with 14 knockouts. He rocked Hafey in each of the rounds with solid punches to the head. Medrano is a good fighter and promoter Mickey Davies should bring him back. With a little more seasoning he'll be popular.

Medrano slipped twice in the third but he took the mandatory 8-count in the sixth and seventh.

San Diego high-school senior Manuel Lujan ran into his first ring trouble Friday. He met a featherweight who could fight back. "Chalio" Mendiola, of Mexico City, rocked Lujan throughout the 6-round fight and while the decision for Lujan was unanimous among the officials, it was far from that among the patrons. It was obvious that fans thought that it should be at least a draw. Security put shouting dissidents down. Either Mendiola was better than Lujan anticipated or Lujan was off form. Ringside press gave a slight edge to Lujan — so slight, in fact, that it was barely lifted out of the "home-town decision" category.

Heavyweight Lee Mitchell came from Phoenix to fight. So did San Diego's Carlos Tijernia. The decision came at 2:59 of the first round. But Lee had staggered Tijernia a couple of times and appeared to have the fight under control until Tijuernia caught him on the head with a flurry that dropped him for the count. Ring doctor William Lundeen attended Mitchell who took a longer recovery route than most fighters.

The card attracted a good house with about 2,700 fans fans comfortably occupying the 3,330-seat facility.

Chargers in Kansas City Fouts Doubtful Starter

Kansas City beat San Diego 24-14, just two weeks ago in San Diego. But that was before the Chargers established a one-game winning streak. That was Sunday when the Chargers won a 36-35 cliff-hanger from the Cleveland Browns.

Sunday they tackle the Chiefs again. The game will be at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City. Stretching their streak may be complicated by the injury of quarterback Dan Fouts, whose ribs were injured in the final quarter of Sunday's game.

Kickoff time is 11 a.m. The game will be beamed to San Diego via television 10 and radio KSDO (1120).

Sunday's game will be the first of four road games for the Chargers. The next home game will be December 8 against the Chicago Bears.

Charger rookie strongside linebacker Don Goode was defensive captain at the University of Kansas last year. He returns to the Kansas City area Sunday for his first appearance in Arrowhead Stadium.

"I've seen the stadium from outside, but never inside," said Goode, a No. 1 draft choice of the Chargers. "It will be just like coming home with my college friends and former teammates in the crowd."

Goode (pronounced good) is beginning to take charge of his position after making the transition from a defensive lineman in college to a pro linebacker. He was credited with 14 tackles against Kansas City two weeks ago and had 10 against Cleveland and also recovered an onsides kickoff.

"I'm gaining confidence with every game," said Goode.

Last week Quarterback Dan Fouts passed the Chargers to an exciting 36-35 victory over the Cleveland Browns before 36,631 (paid) at San Diego Stadium last Sunday.

Leaving the field at halftime down 21-7, Fouts rallied the Chargers with four touchdown passes—43 yards to Don Woods, 1 yard to Glenn Bonner, 70 yards to Harrison Davis and 75 yards to Woods. The winning points came on a 40-yard field goal by Ray Wersching at 14:02.

Fouts passed for 332 yards on 12-of-21 with 268 yards in the second half. Davis caught four for 142 yards; Woods three for 119 and Gary Garrison three for 68.

Woods rushed for 51 yards in 18 carries and Bo Matthews 37 yards in 11 attempts. Linebackers Floyd Rice and Don Goode led defenders with 10 tackles apiece. Safety Chris Fletcher intercepted his third pass of the year.

Aztecs, Tigers to Battle For PCAA Title Saturday

The PCAA football title will be on the line Saturday night when San Diego State U and U of Pacific square off in San Diego Stadium for a 7:30 contest.

The Aztecs, 5-2 overall and 3-0 in the conference, have won four of the five previous PCAA titles, including the last two in a row. The only time San Diego has failed to win the conference crown was in 1971. Pacific, 5-4 overall and 2-1 in the PCAA has never won the title.

Pacific prepped for the Aztecs by beating Texas (Arlington) last week, 26-17. Tiger super-back Willard Harrell rushed 30 times in that game for 226 yards and three touchdowns. Fullback Don Padilla rushed 18 times for 160 yards.

The Tigers set a conference record with 437 yards rushing, breaking their own mark of 434 set last season against Los Angeles State. Pacific had 490 yards total offense in the game.

San Diego State was upset last week by North Texas State 14-9. The Aztecs had 380 yards total offense to 167 for the Mean Green and 20 first downs to North Texas' eight, but lost the game.

Aztec receiver Dwight McDonald caught 14 passes for 196 yards. The 14 receptions ties him for the best performance in the NCAA this season with John Ross of Toledo. S. D. State starting quarterback Craig Penrose was forced to leave the game at the end of the first period with a concussion and neck sprain, but is listed as a probable starter.

If he cannot play, coach Claude Gilbert indicated Dick Clyde would open at quarterback. Clyde was 7 of 17 passing against North Texas State for 155 yards and a TD. All his efforts came in the fourth quarter and was his first action from scrimmage this year.

"I warned the team last week about the type of games we have been playing," said Gilbert. "We cruise along, get in trouble and then win after we're in danger. It had to end sooner or later. We weren't real first up for the game. I think the players wanted to play hard and tried to play hard, but just couldn't mentally.

"I hope the loss shocks us back into reality. I still think this is a championship team. We'll get a chance to prove if we're champions Saturday night against Pacific. They have a fine team and can run with anybody in the country. Willard Harrell is just a super, super runner and we'll have to stop him to win the game."

5 Students Disciplined For Monte Vista Row

By John Kowalczyk

Open hearings conducted by Grossmont High School District trustees have led to the disciplining of five Monte Vista High School students involved in the two-day racial conflict on the Spring Valley campus last month.

Four of the students were sentenced to continuation school at hearings held last week. The hearings were open at the request of parents. A fifth student involved in the disturbance was permitted to continue at Monte Vista in view of her record of conduct following the incident, according to District Superintendent Dr. Austin Sellery.

A technical matter delayed the sixth student's hearing. The student was ordered to continuation school by trustees at a Monday hearing, Sellery said.

The disturbance, which disrupted classes at the high school, stemmed from a confrontation between Anglo and Mexican - American students over senior privileges to occupy a section of the campus.

Students were charged with disturbing the peace and carrying concealed weapons. Two girls were injured and one was hospitalized.

Dr. Sellery said that the incident has precipitated a study to review minority relations in the school.

Studies are now planned to determine whether text materials, curricula and extra-curricular activities are biased against minorities attending the school.

The skirmish will not have any effect on the concept of senior privilege, Sellery maintains.

Continuation school is designed for students who find it difficult, for a number of reasons, to attend the regular school. Students there receive individualized instruction.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Just in case you hadn't noticed, this is National Double Talk Week, which gives us fitin' backside to discuss the health and well-being of Henry Louis Aaron.

Hammering Hank, the home-runningest, hittingest gent in the world, National League, U.S. of A, and Japan has just been traded from the Atlanta Braves to Milwaukee of the other league.

Now every Nationalite worth his beer and peanuts knows the American League is almost but not quite, every bit as good as — you'll pardon the tripe tripody — the senior circuit.

In fact our loyalty to the old, tried-and-true just might be beginning to wear a bit around the edges.

You see, the Hammer is all through according to the National way of doing things. But there are more than a hatful of bingos left in his lumber in the American scheme of playing the game.

It makes one wonder if perhaps, (and this admittedly borders on the verge of treason) the American League might not have a rule or two up its sweat shirt sleeve that are better for the game than the old ones kickin' around, Nationalwise.

Aaron will play a position for the Milwaukees unknown in the saltier circuit. He will be a "DH," a designated hitter, a man whose only concern is the swishing of his ash.

For him, gloves are something to warm his hands in winter. Playing defense is for lesser folk.

Off the record, Atlanta Braves officials, for whom Aaron has labored since he came up to the majors, (which by some idiom of irony was when the Braves played in Milwaukee) admitted their lineup was lesser than its best with Aaron in it. Except about four times a game, of course. .....

Aaron, who by the way, always was, is and undoubtedly always will be a real first class guy, has too much pride to stick around and not play the game the way he knows it should be played. It came regretably, sadly . . . but he asked to be traded.

The Braves organization, being the first class operation it has always been under Bill Batholomay (and before that) made a deal to give Henry a few more years hiting time. Now half the major leagues are going to get a chance to see a living legend, a bonafide superhero, a man who's chronicle will be passed from father to son to the end of our time. To the Nationals shame, his enhancement comes in the other league.

For us, mark the date please, Sept. 14, 1974. Aaron led off the fifth inning with his 731 career homer. It was a shot over the left field wall off a hanging curve ball served up by Dave Friesleban.

It was the Hammer's last homer in San Diego. There were 17,213 fans in the park, but as time goes by, surely more than half the town will claim its witness.

The point of all this, besides a salute to a friend, is that there is a place for Henry Louis Aaron in baseball, now, this coming season. But unfortunately, and probably stupidly, the wise moguls of the National League can not accommodate him.

The wise heads of baseball purism tell us that the game ain't the same when pitchers don't hit. Strategy is gone, managers lose their moves, the game takes on new, therefore undesirable, dimensions.

They tell us that, but I don't believe it. A manager can fool around with any player, It's his choice. Oakland did it with second basemen. But it could be catchers, outfielders, anybody. And, of course, you remember Oakland. They knocked the Nationals stiff those last three World Series.

The warmth and feeling of baseball, its greatness, comes in its sharing. It's a game for being there in the park, a game for relaxing and excitement, for anticipation, for second guessing for old fashioned enjoying.

It deserves better than finding half of its teams, an entire league . . . the senior league if you please, can't find room in its rules for one of its greatest stars.

Sorry Mr. Kuhn, but that just ain't progress.

CYA Reverses Closure Notice on Juv. Hall

The California Youth Authority withdrew an earlier notice to close the county Juvenile Hall following a reinspection in October.

The County Probation Department was warned in August that the Hall, 2901 Meadowlark dr., would face closure in 60 days if overcrowding was not alleviated. The reinspection showed a total population of 146, 51 fewer than the rated capacity.

The Juvenile Hall holds an Open House Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m. featuring guided tours of the boys' and girls' units.

Local Show is Multicultural

The Multicultural Arts Exhibit featuring works of many local artists, remains open for public viewing 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays and Sunday at the Human Relations Commission, 3730 5th ave.

The exhibit is sponsored by the newly formed Inter-cultural Council of the Arts and will run through November 15.

6-Day Cruise Open to Public

H & M Landing's flagship, Finalista 100, will make a six-day natural history cruise of California's Channel Islands November 27 - December 2.

Kenneth M. Golden, H & M president, said field trips ashore are scheduled.

"Activities ashore include study of the island's ecology, geology and archeology, and observations of their marine and terrestrial flora and fauna," Golden said.

The cruise is scheduled at this time of the year to coincide with optimum low tides and the full moon, he said.

The cruise will be limited to 36 passengers and deadline for members of the San Diego Natural History Museum and others is November 15.

Fee for the cruise is $315 per passenger and reservations may be arranged at H & M Landing.

Mariners on Longest Road Trip

Early season surprises through the first three weeks of the 1974-75 World Hockey Assn. season, the San Diego Mariners this week continue on their longest road trip of the campaign.

San Diego, with four straight home wins after an opening loss at Phoenix, began the present six-game swing by defeating Vancouver, 6-2, Sunday. The Mariners are scheduled to beat Indianapolis tonight; New England, Friday; Quebec Sunday and Chicago, Nov. 12.

They lost to the Houston Aeros 9-3 Tuesday night

The next local appearances for player-coach Harry Howell's squad will be a Nov. 14 game with New England and a Nov. 15 hosting of Cleveland.

Early statistics give San Diego the WHA lead in power play goals with nine in their first five outings. Center Andre Lacroix, the league's highest scorer after two seasons, heads the Mariners with three power tallies.

New Tighter Defense

Credit for the fast start should be given to Howell and player personnel director Ron Ingram for blending the already potent offense with a new, tighter defense. Off-season blue line acquisittions Bob Wall, Bob Falkenberg and Ron Plumb have teamed with holdovers Howell, Kevin Morrison and Ken Block to provide some stout fronting for goaltenders Joe Junkin and Russ Gillow.

The forwards have done their job with the first two lines both credited with eight goals. Lacroix has five with his right winger Norm Ferguson credited with two and left winger Rick Sentes, one. Center Ray Adduono has two scores while mates Wayne Rivers has four and Gene Peacosh, two.

Mickey's Track Team Expands to Include Men

Mickey Patterson Tyler, for years, has coached girls, boys and women in track. All of them, including Mickey herself, are amateurs.

Her teams were known as Mickey's Missiles and they attracted attention throughout the nation. In 1972 the Missiles were State Champions.

The team is still known by that name but its scope has been broadened to accommodate eight outstanding adult male track stars. Several of them are world class competitors.

Those who have joined Tyler's crew include:

Arnie Robinson — former NCAA champ; 1972 Bronze Medalist and world's no. 2 broad-jumper.

James "Bouncey" Moore— former NCAA champion long-jumper and present National AAU champ.

Phil Singleton—Oregon State star high jumper (7'-1").

Wes Williams — 1974 champion 600-yard indoor trackman and winner of the 1974 USA-USSR 400-yard competition.

James King — former S D State quarter-miler and fast rising 400-meter hurdler.

Stan Williams — sprinter. 100, 200 and 400 yard phenom (presently in the US Navy).

Donald Robinson — Wayne State U. (Detroit) long jump star.

Tyler said she is the only female track coach in the world today training men athletes.

For certain, she is the only black female track coach.

Tyler was a U.S. track representative to the Olympics in 1948.

Padres Minors Named All Stars

Lin Hamilton and Gene Delyon of the San Diego Padres Class A Walla Walla club in the Northwest League have been named to the Short Season All-Star team as selected by the Topps Chewing Gum Company.

The pair won recognition in a category limited to Class A clubs playing in a two-month summer schedule and the various rookie leagues.

A catcher, Hamilton paced the Northwest League in hitting with a lofty .352 average with six home runs and 56 RBI. His average was the second best on the all-star team. Hamilton, who starred collegiately at Clemson University, is currently with the Padres winter club in the Arizona Instructional League.

Winning the third base post was former University of Santa Clara standout Gene Delyon. An outfielder in college, Delyon hit .329 for Walla Walla with five home runs and 55 RBI. He won All-America honors last season while playing for Santa Clara and led the nation in home runs.

Final Home Game For USD Saturday

A Saturday afternoon Homecoming game with St. Mary's College marks the final 1974 home appearance of the University of San Diego football squad. Kickoff is set for 1:30 in the USD Stadium off Friars rd.

Following this Saturday's contest, the Toreros draw a one week rest, then conclude their grid activity with a visit to UC Riverside, Nov. 23.

San Diego brings a 2-7 won-lost record into Saturday's affair while Saint Mary's is 3-3. USD coach Dick Logan will attempt to bring his team back from a 29-0 loss to USIU last week while the Gaels took a week vacation after a 42-26 defeat by Oregon Tech, Oct. 26.

The Toreros will throw a two-quarterback offense at St. Mary's with Ruben Elizalde and Mike Spooner expected to divide the signal-calling assignment. Their favorite receivers have been Robert Clark, with 36 catches for 600 yards, Joe Amidon, 21 for 262, and Don Black, 13 for 249.

USIU Vs. Riverside In Saturday Game

After regaining their winning stride last week with a 29-0 victory over U. of San Diego, U.S.I.U.'s Westerners will have no time to rest on their laurels with powerful UC Riverside coming to town this week.

Game time in Balboa Stadium is 7:30 p.m. as USIU will celebrate Homecoming.

"Riverside is probably the strongest team on our schedule," Coach Don Turner said. "They will present the challenge of the year for our offense and defense. Last year UCR beat us 76-28 and the team this year is rated stronger, with excellent speed in Bernie Parks and Darryl Logans, a pair of 9.5 sprinters. They are a class College Division team."

Turner said that after losing their first two games of the season that the Highlanders, under first-year Coach Bob Toledo, have won six straight including a 25-22 win last week over Cal State, Los Angeles.

Wrestlers Matched for Tag Title

The Golden Greek, John Tolos, will engage Argentina's Pampero Firpo Tuesday night in the weekly wrestling production of the San Diego Coliseum, 15th and E streets.

Starting time is 7:30 p.m.

In an American title tag championship match, Victor Rivera and Dino Bravo will meet Man Mountain Mike (625 pounds) and The Canadian.

The popular Eduardo Carpentier grapples with Bob Kirk and the curtain raiser will pit Dennis Stamp against England's 300-pound Pat Roach.

then fired several shots.

"The vehicle continued forward up an incline and came to a halt.

"The Deputy checked inside the car and found the vehicle in gear and the suspect wounded.

"The suspect was transported by ambulance to Grossmont Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

"On effecting the felony stop, the Deputies employed the standard techniques taught at the Sheriff's Academy and employed the use of a .12 gauge shotgun which is standard issue for the Patrol units.

"The Deputies used measures they deemed necessary to prevent a rolling shoot-out or graver dangers which could involve innocent bystanders."

Murray was a native of Pennsylvania and had lived in Lemon Grove for three years. He was employed by the Carpenters Union no. 1296.

He is survived by a son and a daughter; his mother, Mrs. Nell Weese of Lemon Grove, and a sister.

Services were conducted by Conrad's Lemon Grove Mortuary.

Land Added To L.G. Park

The recently acquired 5 3/4 acre Lemon Grove Park, at Mt. Vernon and Berry streets, has grown by 6/10 acre.

The park, yet to be developed, was bought from Mr. and Mrs. Donald Richie, 2381 Bery st, earlier this year for $96,710.

The Richies complained that the U-shaped park property they sold, which surrounds the Richie's house on three sides, has made their remaining property useless and unsaleable.

The Richies asked the County Board of Supervisors to buy their entire holdings of 1 2/3 acres for $49,200. The Board, in a compromise, agreed to buy the 6/10 acre piece for $12,000.

County park officials had recommended against buying any of the property because it would be of little benefit to the park improvement.

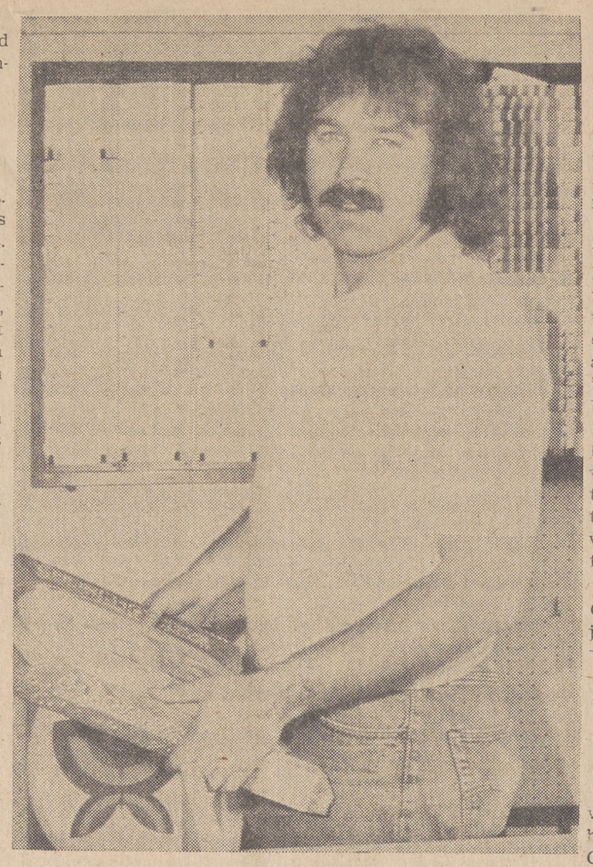
Guess Who?



THIS MYSTERY BUSINESSPERSON holds the prize offered to the first person who can correctly identify him. To claim the prize, clip the above photo and present it to the merchant at his Broadway establishment. Last week, Ruth Martin, 7540 Madison, Lemon Grove, was first to correctly identify Jim Bushong, owner of Alamo Vacuum & Sewing, 7885 Broadway. Martin received a $9 pair of sewing shears. The contest, now in its fifth week, purports to show that needed services and merchandise can be obtained locally.

Adventure, Competition To Highlight Explorer Year

High adventure activities and national competitions are available to young men and women who are Explorers in ths area, according to Sheriff John Duffy, Chairman, Exploring Committee, Boy Scouts of America.

The Explorer program is a national contemporary program for young men and women of high school age. Plans have been made on both a national and local level for the year ahead.

The high-adventure activities — camping, hiking, and canoeing — will be conducted next summer in the High Sierra Region of California; Philmont Explorer Base in New Mexico; Snake River Explorer Canoe Base, near Jackson Hole, Wyoming; Northern Wisconsin National Canoe Base; and the Charles L. Sommers Wilderness Canoe Base near Ely, Minnesota.

Events scheduled in 1975 for San Diego County Explorer Units include: A Safe-Driving Road Rally January 25; a Marine Symposium March 15; the Law Enforcement Academy March 22-29; a Medical Explorer Academy March 22-29; the Explorer Olympics June 6-7; Sailing Championships June 28, a Beach Party July 19, a Surfing Conference August 22-23; an Aviation Explorer Fly-In October 17-18 and the Automotive Fair December 13. Several thousand young men and women from throughout San Diego County will participate.

Explorers Seek Student Pilots

Explorer Scout Squadron 872 B.S.A. conducts its semi-annual student pilot membership drive Saturday at B & J Cafe, Gillespie Field, 11 a.m. to noon.

The flight training program offers ground school, flight training, glider training, and parachute jumping to boys and girls age 15 to 20, or in the 9th grade or above.

Initiation is $15, monthly dues $5, and flying lessons are $6. Ground school is free.

The scouts fly every weekend at Gillespie Field, Montgomery Field, Brown Field, Palomer Airport, and Ramona Airport.

All instruction is in Cessna 150 trainers, and all instructors are registered adult scout leaders and F.A.A. Certified Flight Instructors.

Paterson, N.J. was once known as the "Silk City" but the nickname has become obsolete in recent years.

U.S. Auto Inspection Proposals Big Rip-Off, Spokesmen Say

Two California spokesmen recently voiced strong opposition to federal proposals for a national program of vehicle inspections.

In a letter to U.S. Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar, Frank Walton, secretary of the California Business and Transportation Agency, denounced the proposals as "one of the biggest rip-offs in the automotive industry." Brinegar predicted that the proposals would cost California $400 million annually without any positive gain in traffic safety. He predicted that the changes may even work to the detriment of traffic safety.

California Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski joined with Walton in a letter to Administrator James B. Gregory, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Pudinski drew comparisons between inspection programs in New Jersey and California. In New Jersey, he states in the letter, 40% of the state motor vehicle budget is spent on vehicle safety inspections while California spends 5% of their budget on a more modest program. Nonetheless, he points out, the percentage of traffic accidents caused by mechanical defects is less in California.

Pudinski urged that the best proposal would be state-run, and would be designed according to the socioeconomic, demographic and climatic conditions of each state.

Aged Advisory Board Named

A 36-member Statewide Advisory Council for the Aged has been appointed by the California Commission on Aging, on the basis of senior citizen population representation among the state's planning areas for againg, Chairman Mishel Piastro Jr. announced.

Piastro said more than 150 applications for appointment to the council were received. Special consideration was given in the selection process to minority and ethnic representation as well as senior citizen population ratios.

Serving two-year terms, council members meet quarterly to review state programs for the aging and to make recommendations to the commission. The commission, comprising 15 members appointed by the Governor, Senate and Assembly, is advisory to them and to the California Office on Aging.

San Diego area council members are Ana A. Rameriz, 60, and John B. Vansteen, 68.

Exemptions Slightly Offset Property Tax Says Flournoy

SACRAMENTO — Inflation-stimulated assessed valuations for 1974-75 property taxes have been only slightly offset by a continuing growth of taxpayer exemptions in California's 58 counties, State Controller Houston I. Flournoy reported recently.

"The assessed value growth combined with reimbursements from the State to cover most of the exemptions loss also has made it possible for most of the counties to again reduce tax rates for those services supported by county-wide property taxes," Flournoy said in commenting on his Annual Report of Assessed Valuation and Tax Rates of the Counties of California.

The Controller said 30 counties reported lower basic tax rates for 1974-75. The basic rates went up in 18 counties, and remained unchanged in 10 counties.

"This is the third successive year in which most counties have been able to reduce their basic property tax rates," Flournoy said. "However, in terms of cost to the taxpayer, these tax rate reductions are either partially or completely offset by the increased valuations."

Auto Theft Rate Slows

Growth rate in California vehicle thefts was cut sharply the initial year of a Highway Patrol theft control project, Commissioner Walter Pudinski said. The per capita theft rate was up only 2.2 percent over the prior year, compared to a 10-year average annual growth rate of 6.9%.

"California held the increase to 2.2 percent while the nationwide increase approximated 7%," Pudinski said.

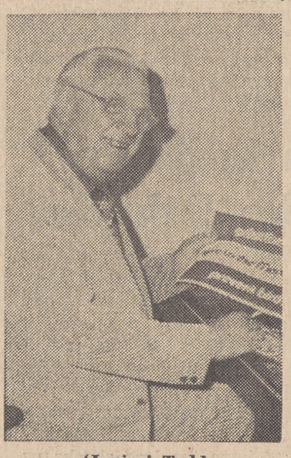
At the same time, stolen vehicle recovery rate in the state climbed 3.3% to 86.4% since the inception of the project, it was reported.

Also, the theft control project reversed a long-term downward trend in the rate of arrests for vehicle theft.

Pudinski commented that "these findings indicate early progress in combatting California's most serious property crime, but we still have a long way to go in reducing this $110 million annual drain on the State's economy."

Apply Now for Job-Training Grants

U.S. Senator John Stull has announced the availability of applicationst for new state occupational education and training grants as established by the Greene Occupational Training Scholarship Act. Grants are available to qualifying students who seek to further their education in a number of manpower-short vocational areas. Applications may be obtained by contacting Senator Stull's office, 4817 Palm ave., Suite B, La Mesa, telephone 462-5070.



'Junior' Todd

O. W. Todd Named To 'Dimes' Post

Orien W. "Junior" Todd, Jr., with a record of distinguished service in national, state and civic affairs, has accepted the appointment as 1975 campaign chairman of the San Diego-Imperial March of Dimes in its drive against birth defects.

"The aim of the March of Dimes is to bring about a time when children will be free of crippling disorders," he said. March of Dimes research grants are helping scientists discover ways to prevent birth defects."

Todd is currently executive director of the Stadium Club and is on the executive committees of the Hall of Champions; San Diego Convention and Tourist Bureau; San Diego Council of the Navy League; Greater S.D. Sports Association and the S.D., CoC Military Affairs Commission.

He was president of the Stanley Andrews Sporting Goods Co. for 31 years. He sold it in 1967.

VFW Post Filled

Phillip T. Wagner, past commander of Mission Valley Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3787, 4370 Twain ave., has been appointed national aide-de-camp to the national VFW commander-in-chief John J. Stang.

Wagner is a retired Navy chief who is now employed by Western Electric Co., San Diego.

Christmas Seals Aid Research

Medical research receives a million dollar boost from local Christmas Seal contributors this year.

Dr. Haynes Sheppard, President of the Lung Association of San Diego and Imperial Counties, announced that $1,193,925 was allocated by local, state and national units of the American Lung Association for research grants and contracts underwriting a wide range of investigations of lung diseases. Of this, $262,419 is earmarked for a nationwide "seed money" research program administered by the nationwide lung association.

In addition to Christmas Seal research grants, another $2 million in contributions supports fellowships, faculty positions and other programs designed to expand professional knowledge about emphysema and other chronic lung diseases, Dr. Sheppard said.

IRS TAX ANSWERS ?

F. S. Schmidt, DISTRICT DIRECTOR, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I received $2,000 in cash as a wedding gift. I know I'm not taxed on this amount, but can I add it to my income to determine my sales tax deduction from the tables in the tax form package?

A. Yes. Tax exempt income, such as gifts, social security benefits, life insurance proceeds, etc. may be added to your other income to compute your sales tax deduction from the tax form tables.

Q. I received a bill from the IRS which included an "estimated tax penalty." What does this mean?

A. In general, the law requires that at least 80 percent (66 2/3 percent for farmers and fishermen) of the income and self-employment tax shown on a return must have been paid before the return is filed. This payment is due in four installments, and at least 20 percent (one-fourth of 80 percent) of the total tax must be paid by the date each installment is due. If an installment is underpaid, the taxpayer incurs a penalty of six percent a year on the amount of the underpayment unless he qualifies for relief under one of the exceptions provided by law.

If, when you filed your Form 1040, you did not submit a Form 2210, "Underpayment of Estimated Tax by Individuals," to support your computation of the penalty or to explain why you believe the penalty does not apply and you still believe the penalty should not be imposed, you should file the Form 2210 now. The form should have been enclosed with your bill. A copy also may be obtained from any IRS office.

Q. I received a lump-sum payment for accrued leave upon resigning from the Federal Government. Is this amount taxable?

A. Yes. Such amounts must be included in your income.

Q. I know that in order to claim my son as a dependent, I must furnish more than half of his total support for the year. Is everything I spend for him considered as total support furnished by me?

A. No. Generally, total support includes expenditures for providing food, shelter, clothing, education, medical and dental care, recreation, transportation, and similar necessities. However, certain items are specifically excluded from total support. Some of these are life insurance premiums, the purchase of an automobile, or other large capital expenditure, Federal, state or local income tax payments, social security tax payments and funeral expenses.

CARE Seeks $7.3 Million

NEW YORK — The hoiday season CARE Food Crusade now under way appeals to Americans to extend a lifeline to needy children in many countries around the world where hunger and malnutrition are the biggest cripplers and killers of the young.

Frank L. Goffio, Executive Director of the international aid agency, announced that $7.3 million is required during the coming year to continue daily feeding of 22 million people, nearly all of them children served at preschool and nutrition centers and primary schools, many of which CARE helped build.

CARE buys foods at special, low prices. Some operating costs supplied by local governments and United States donations of agricultural commodities will multiply public contributions. Last year each donor dollar provided nearly six dollars worth of aid, delivered overseas under the supervision of experts.

Contributions may be sent to CARE Food Crusade, 4055 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, California 90010.

Immunization

This is a good time for parents to check carefully the immunizations their children have received. Every child should have, at the very least, four of the vaccinations available. These four essential immunizations are diphtheria, tetanus, polio and measles.

Diphtheria

This disease has become rare, only because of prevailing immunization. It still does occur, however, and is very dangerous.

Tetanus (Lockjaw)

This is also an uncommon disease but may be caused by a variety of wounds, especially those which originate in gardens.

Diphtheria and tetanus vaccinations (toxoids) are usually given in combination with pertussis (whooping cough) vaccine (DPT) at 1½ to 6 months of age. Older children and adults receive only diphtheria and tetanus toxoid (DT) in a more dilute form. Adults should be protected as well as children. Booster shots are given only every five to ten years.

Poliomylelitis

Polio was the "dread disease," for very good reasons, of a generation ago. Immunization has greatly reduced the incidence in the United States.

Three doses, given by mouth, if the trivalent live virus vaccine are necessary. The first two doses are given two months apart and the third dose six to 12 months later. This may be given concurrently with DPT, although many physicians prefer to separate the two. Boosters for polio are unneccessary except perhaps for travel to an area where the disease is common.

There is an extremely small risk of paralysis from the polio vaccine—about one in one to two million (this compares with risks from transportation, drugs or, even, certain foods). This is a small risk, indeed, in relation to the extraordinary success in the overall population.

Adults need not receive polio vaccine unless they have unusual conditions of exposure. Universal immunization of children will provide great protection of adults.

Measles

The extreme severity of this disease and its complications together with the continued success of vaccination causes measles immunization to be essential. It is given at one year of age; if given prior to this age it is not reliable. Very mild reaction, such as fever and rash, sometimes occur, but serious reactions are extremely rare and infinitely less than the complications of measles. Almost every unvaccinated child will have measles by early school years.

The preceding four immunizations are the essential ones. Other forms of protection by vaccines occupy a lesser position of importance.

Rubella

Rubella is an extremely mild disease in childhood. About 85% of adults have serum tests indicating immunity even if they have no history of the disease. The only serious result of rubella is the destructive effect on the baby following infection of the mother in early pregnancy. It is for this reason—for the protection of the mother—that it is commonly recommended that all children, both male and female, be immunized at one year of age or later with rubella vaccine. It is not known if immunity will persist in child-bearing years. Some physicians may postpone vaccination, as the British do, to pre-adolescent years and only for females. Adults who are not immune may be immunized at any age, but women must not receive the vaccine during pregnancy nor less than two to three months before the onset of pregnancy.

Mumps

This is usually a mild disease in childhood with almost no serious symptoms except discomfort. Unilateral deafness is a rare complication. In adult males, mumps may cause painful swelling of the testicles, but fear of sterility is rarely justified. There are no special risks for adult females and no risk to an unborn child has been demonstrated.

Mumps vaccine, live virus, may be given at one year of age, but it is not known if immunity at this age will persist to adulthood (it very well may).

A combined measles-rubella-mumps vaccine is available. It does not have an increased rate of reaction and is given as a single injection with resulting immunity to all three diseases.

Smallpox

Smallpox vaccine, which used to be essential, is no longer necessary because the disease is now well controlled throughout the world, and this vaccination runs a high risk of serious reactions.

Influenza

Although children have three or four flu-like infections every year, most physicians believe that influenza vaccine is not necessary for children, except for those with chronic illness.

Most public clinics will probably follow a strict routine of immunization, including rubella and mumps. Your personal physician may have his own ideas about his patients' schedules. The four most essential immunizations — diphtheria, tetanus, polio, measles —must be given early. Physisians' opinions vary and patients' needs may vary with respect to immunization protection.

Utility Rates Going Up

The California Public Utilities Commission granted San Diego Gas & Electric over $10 million in rate increases to offset inflationary operating costs, it was announced last week.

Electric rates will rise by .25% to produce $8 million additional annual revenue. Gas rates go up 2.55% and add $1.99 million in revenue. Steam rates will increase to fill an additional $8,800 need.

New rates, effective November 14, mean a boost of 55 cents for the typical residential usage of 300 kilowatt hours of electricity per month, and 26 cents for the typical usage of 100 therms of gas per month, according to PUC figures.

The increase answers the request originally made by SDG&E in April, 1973.

'Friendly Greeting' Brings Trouble

It was sort of like greeting an old friend when Johnny Lawrence Price, 19, of 2094 Massachusetts, Lemon Grove, waved to a sheriff's deputy driving a marked patrol car south on Massachusetts, mid-afternoon October 29. To the officer it brought back a vague memory. The greeter reminded him of someone he had arrested earlier in the year.

When the officer was able to double back to make certain the greeting was not a signal for help, he was certain that his first assumption was correct.

A radio check indicated that there were still warrants out for Price. The investigation also produced 1.5 grams of marijuana in a plastic bag and cigarette papers on Price's person.

Thus an old acquaintanceship was renewed which is to blossom into a court appearance in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Renewal Notices In the Mail

The Department of Motor Vehicles started mailing 16 million 1975 vehicle and boat registration renewal notices last week, a month earlier than usual, announced DMV Director Robert Cozens.

Notices will go into the mail stream at the rate of 500,000 a day, so most vehicle owners receive their billings by mid-November.

the local DMV office, is within everybody's reach this way," Cozens said.

"The 1975 registration deadline, after which penalties apply, will be February 7. The early mailing will give motorists up to three months to pay their renewal fees, so they will be able to plan their payments around their year-end holiday expenses."

13 Million Drivers

The number of licensed drivers in California has just reached 13 million, Department of Motor Vehicles Director Robert Cozens announced recently.

The current rate of increase is approximately 25,000 a month, he added.

Male drivers exceed female drivers by 53.9 percent to 46.1 percent. In 1970 the ratio was 55 percent men, 45 percent women.

Almost 100,000 California drivers are over 80 years old, according to a just-completed distribution study.

About 150,000 are under 17 years old.

The mean age is just under 40 — that is, an equal number of drivers are younger and older.

Retirees' Guide Gives Income Information

For all Americans, particularly the elderly, proper money management and financial planning are vital weapons in the battle against inflation, according to a free "Retirement Money Guide" jointly prepared by the American Association of Retired Persons and the National Retired Teachers Association.

The Guide, designed to help retirees organize financial resources and live within a money-management budget, discusses sources of retirement income and how to stretch its buying power.

Information on Social Security, stocks and bonds, real estate investments, and cost cutting through intelligent shopping is included in the Guide.

Free copies can be obtained by writing: Retirement Money Guide, AARP/NRTA, 1909 K st., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20049.

Bike Safety Tips

Bicycling has become increasingly popular among many Californians, for transportation and recreation. Unfortunately, the growth in popularity has been accompanied by a growth in the number of bicycle accidents, which frequently involve cars. To keep bicycling healthy fun rather than a health hazard, California Medical Association urges motorists to respect bicyclists' rights and offers these tips for safe cycling:

Be sure you're in condition before attempting strenuous riding; if in doubt, see your doctor.

Learn how to handle your bicycle safely before riding in heavy traffic.

Keep your bicycle, especially the brakes, in good working condition.

Follow the same rules as motorists; obey all traffic signs.

Bike on the right side of streets, near the curb.

Equip your cycle for night biking with lights and with reflectors on the front, rear and sides.

Don't wear floppy pants that could get caught in the chain.

Don't carry things that could cause you to lose control of your bicycle.

Never ride double on a bicycle; carry children only in approved carriers.

Walk, don't ride, across busy intersections.

When bicycle touring, don't try to ride too far at once. Allow time for rest stops.

Subaru Offers Money Back Plan

Subaru automobile dealers in the San Diego area offer new car buyers a thirty day money-back guarantee from now through December 31st.

It follows Subaru's recently announced price slash of up to $400 on all models.

If a purchaser is dissatisfied with a Subaru, for any reason whatsoever, he may return it within thirty days of purchase or before the odometer reaches one thousand miles (whichever comes first) the firm said. Whatever money has been paid will be immediately refunded by the dealer.

7 Roses for Matadors

Once again, everything's coming up roses for the Mt. Miguel Marching Matadors. Precision marching to the 1812 Overture, including some new innovations never attempted by the band before in competition, overwhelmed the Rose Parade Committee at the El Primero Band Review in Santa Monica over the weekend.

The selection marks the seventh time that the Mt. Miguel High School Band has represented California in the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena.

55 bands competed for the honor, according to Louis Rivera, Mt. Miguel Music Parents Club publicity chairman.

The music makers were not the only ones to shine at the competition. Fourteen year old Mt. Miguel freshman Karen Eyler won first place in Baton Twirling Majorette Competition.

The Matadors have won numerous honors and made several appearances including half-time shows at the Charger games this year.

Farmer is Victim, State Director Says

LOS ANGELES — Agriculture is not a cause of inflation, it is a victim of inflation.

This was the gist of a presenation made by State Food and Agriculture Director C. B. Christensen at the Califorina Economic Summit Conference on Inflation held in Los Angeles last month.

Christensen illustrated his statement by explaining that in 1953, when disposable income was $1,583 per person, about 22% of it was spent for food. Today, disposable income is $4,195, and only 15.7% is needed for food.

"In these same 20 years," Christensen added, "food costs have risen 64% while wages went up 142%.

The conference, convened at the request of Governor Reagan and chaired by Lt. Governor John L. Harmer, was composed of representatives of business, labor, education, consumer groups, and the elderly in order to develop specific recommendations regarding President Ford's recent proposals as they effect California.

Annual D.A.V. Drive Starts

The annual "Forget-Me-Not" sale by the Disabled American Veterans will be held Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

This sale is the only official solicitation authorized each year and those participating can be recognized by official lapel placards or arm bands.

The "Forget-Me-Not" sale will be conducted county wide and veterans, veterans' wives ana widows, youth organizations, and other charitable organizations will place identified solicitors at shopping centers and other locations with canisters and the little blue artificial flowers to seek donations.

Funds donated are used for rehabilitation of disabled veterans. This rehabilitation includes providing qualified veteran service, assisting in job placement, extra necessities for shut-ins and hospitalized, Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for needy local veterans, and many other services not available from other sources.

Dedication Honors Viet Casualties

San Diego ave. and Twigg st. in Old Town is the site of a final dedication and fifth Anniversary of the San Diego Peace Memorial this Sunday saluting servicemen who served and died in Vietnam.

Ceremonies include a parade and dedication program, including the reading of a message by Gov. Ronald Reagan, a proclamation by San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson, and the unveiling of the last two bronze plaques bearing the names of all the county servicemen who were killed in the Vietnam conflict. The memorial is a gift to the people of San Diego County from a group of concerned citizens.

Guests of Honor include Gold Star Mothers, Gold Star Wives, Wives of P.O.W.'s, and parents and relatives of Vietnam servicemen.

The dedication ceremony begins at 2 p.m.

SDG&E Earnings Up

San Diego Gas & Electric Company reported that third quarter earnings continued the improvement shown in the second quarter. For the three months ended September 30, the company earned 59 cents per share of common stock, compared with 37 cents for the year-earlier quarter.

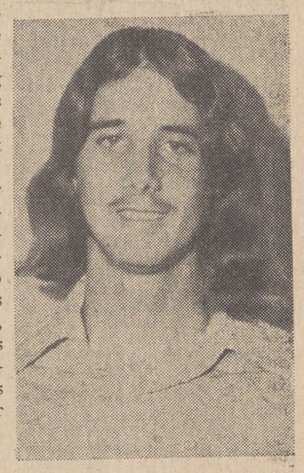
Even though energy sales declined slightly due to continuing customer conservation, gross operating revenues for the third quarter rose to $70.6 million from the $50.9 million of the 1973 third quarter.

Lost License Plate Brings Three Charges

David Alan Schell, 23, of 1719 Denstone place, Lemon Grove, faces three charges after sheriff's deputies stopped him on Golden ave., at 9 p.m. October 29. The stop was made because the car he was driving had no rear license plate, officers said.

Officers reported that Schell produced a Social Security card but couldn't come up with a California Drivers License. During the investigation officers found three marijuana cigarettes and a package of cigarette papers in his possession. He was charged with driving on a suspended drivers license; possession of marijuana and possession of marijuana paraphernalia. Four other occupants of the car were questioned and released.

His trial is scheduled for El Cajon Municipal Court.



DE MOLAY PROMOTION— Brian A. Berling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce H. Berling, Casa de Oro, is installed as Master Councilor of the Lemon Grove chapter of the Order of De Molay Saturday at Lemon Grove Masonic Temple. Berling was a four-year German student who traveled to Germany to work in a Youth Hostel, under the guidance of the German American Society. He plans to enroll at Grossmont College next semester.

Mental Health Board to Meet

The San Diego County Mental Health Advisory Board will hold its regular meeting Wednesday, at 7 p.m., in Room 310 at the County Admistration Bldg., 1600 Pacific Highway.

The board will be addressing key policy recommendations regarding the county's role as a provider of service.

Also on the agenda will be a review of the status of proposals for contract of CMH services in University Hospital Annex.

In addition, the board has requested program and budget information on existing Short-Doyle services, and this material will be discussed.

The public is encouraged to attend all Mental Health Advisory Board meetings. Time is allotted on the agenda for hearing from the public.
